The Center for American Progress has launched Campus Progress – a brand-new effort to strengthen progressive voices on college and university campuses nationwide; counter the growing influence of right-wing groups on campus; and empower new generations of progressive leaders.

CAMPUS PROGRESS includes:

Campus Progress.org, a web publication and blog offering hard-hitting journalism, analysis, opinions, interviews, cartoons, audio, video, and organizing tools; giving young people the opportunity to be published nationally; and building a community of young progressives interested in issues and ideas.

A speakers bureau that sends prominent speakers to campuses for speeches, debates, workshops, film screenings, etc.

Funding and mentoring to campus publications to help students promote their work, expand print runs, sponsor events, and network their web sites with other campuses and CampusProgress.org.

Campus action grants and support to help student activists make their voices heard on issues that matter.

Conferences and training programs, including our annual Campus Progress National Student Conference.
